AMBULANCE CORPS.Successful Fete in Lee Garden.*GOOD PATRONAGE.

The clerk of the weather was kind to St. John Ambulance people on Saturday afternoon when he turned off the rain and thus made it possible for them to hold their Garden Fete arranged in connection with the Centenary Celebrations of the Order, which are taking place throughout the Empire.

By kind permission of Messrs. R. C. and M. H. Lee, the Fete was held in the Lee Garden, East Point, and proved a great success, the Fun of the Fair being much enjoyed by large numbers of the public which thronged the garden from opening time at 2 p.m. until 7 o'clock when the Fete was closed down, all classes of the community being thoughtfully catered for.

Willing Helpers.

There was no shortage of willing helpers in the various side shows. Men of the Royal Navy (by permission of Comdr. E. G. Morris) had charge of the ever popular Aunt Sallies which did not lack patrons throughout the afternoon. The same may be said of all the other attractions usually found at such Fetes—shutes, serial railway fishing pond, see-saw and swings—also manned by the blue-jackets. In addition, followers of the new fad, miniature golf, were able to indulge in a game on a well laid out course which included some novel hazards. The brass band of the Confucian Society under Bandmaster Li Kwok-yan, contributed to the enjoyment of the Fair with selections.

The Theatre in the Garden also had much to offer in the form of concert entertainment which included European and Chinese plays, pantomimes, and music, Hawaiian airs, dancing exhibitions, Chinese boxing, conjuring, lion playing, by members of various Chinese Associations and European and Chinese amateur artists, and First Aid demonstrations by members of the Brigade.

An Appreciation.

The thanks of the Brigade are due to the following for assistance rendered to make the Fete the success it was:—

Messrs. R. C. Lee and M. H. Lee for the loan of the Garden.

The Commodore for loan of flags and bunting.

Commander E. G. Morris and Petty Officers for side shows.

LIFE SAVING.Local Society's 1931 Activities.*MR. HUNT'S REPORT.

The following report on the 1931 activities of the local branch of the Life Saving Society is submitted for publication by Mr. R. J. Hunt, Hong Kong Representative:—

I have much pleasure to report that the Life Saving Classes are continuing. The Hong Kong Police have two classes, one for Europeans and the other for Indians. Both classes are well advanced and have passed all the Land Tests. They are now commencing the Water Drills.

A letter has been received from the Sports Master, St. Stephen's College, Stanley, asking for advice in Life Saving. This has been attended to and Handbooks of Instruction have been forwarded and I understand that classes have already been started. Handbooks of Instruction have also been forwarded to the 20th Heavy Battery, R.A., stationed at Stonecutters, and report comes through that classes are about to commence there.

C. S. M. Creek, Headquarters Wing, 2nd Bn. The Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders has also made inquiries with the view of commencing Life Saving classes in the Battalion. Handbooks have been forwarded, but as there are insufficient instructors, classes have not yet been started.

The members of the Victoria Recreation Club, who did so well last year in all tests, and captured many of the awards, anticipate sending in a list of candidates this year.

Instructors Wanted.

Any one in the Colony holding the Life Saving Certificate and Bronze Medalion who would like to volunteer assistance as Instructors should communicate with the Society, and their services will be welcomed and greatly appreciated. This applies also to the holders of the Hon. Instructor's Certificate.

All interested in Life Saving who may require further information on the matter should communicate with the local representative of the Society whose address is—Sergeant R. J. Hunt, Central Police Station.

LESSON SERMON.First Church of Christ, Scientist, Hong Kong.

"Christian Science" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 28. The Golden Text was:—"Arise, shine; for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee." (Isaiah 60, 1.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible:—"Verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father. And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son." (John 14, 12, 13.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:—"Christ, as the spiritual or true idea of God, comes now as of old, preaching the gospel to the poor, healing the sick, and casting out evil. It is error which is restoring an essential element of Christianity,—namely, apostolic, divine healing? No; it is the Science of Christianity which is restoring it; and is the light shining in darkness, which the darkness comprehends not." (p. 347.)

Oil production from the Turner Valley, Alberta, for the first quarter of 1931, is running far ahead of the same period last year, according to official delivery reports, furnished by the Imperial Oil and Regal Oil refineries at Calgary. For the first three months of 1930 deliveries from Canada's premier oilfield amounted to 273,129 barrels and for the same period of 1931 they totalled 417,960 barrels, or an increase of over 50 per cent. March deliveries, which were interrupted to some extent by Government experiments in shutting in to test rock pressure, totalled 128,975 barrels and were slightly under the February aggregate of 132,257 barrels, but much in excess of the 56,801 barrels produced in March of the previous year.

Sub-Committee, Ambulance Duty.—Mr. Chan Yuk-yin.

'COLORCRETE'

ANTI-GLARECOLOURED PORTLAND CEMENT

It is now possible, at no great additional cost, to introduce the charm of colour into ordinary concrete work. A new coloured cement is available—"Colorcrete"—which possesses the advantage of a permanent and standardised colour. The two colours available at the moment are buff and red. Concrete made with "Colorcrete" is not only much more beautiful than ordinary concrete but it has the strength and hardens just as rapidly as concrete made with "Ferrocrete," the rapid-hardening Portland cement. It gives in 4 days the strength of concrete made with ordinary Portland cement in 28 days.

"Colorcrete" is of considerable value for all concrete constructional work where permanent colour would be an advantage. It gives a concrete which harmonises perfectly with the natural surroundings, and which reduces glare due to the reflected rays of the sun.

Have the advantage of colour in constructional work by constructing in concrete made with "Colorcrete." Pavilions, bandstands, shelters and promenades; factories, bridges, municipal houses, carriages and paths can all be beautified at very little extra cost by the use of this rapid-hardening coloured Portland cement—"Colorcrete."

A Revolution in the treatment of Teeth

STEP BY STEP THE science of medicine advances. The clearer the picture of human ailments becomes, the more logical the treatment. Instead of intricate remedies, science now advocates simple additions to the diet. To-day, most human ailments can be traced to some deficiency in the diet. A deficiency of calcium (lime) in the system, for instance, is the cause of such diverse ailments as weak sensitive teeth, rickets in children, skin troubles of many kinds, irritable nerves, irregularities in the functions of womanhood, etc.

All these ailments may now be attacked in a logical, simple way by adding Kalzana tablets to the diet. Tooth decay, for instance, when your teeth are sensitive and not hard and white, they simply show that your body does not contain enough calcium and no amount of cleaning will help you. Teeth are living parts of the body. They may be ill.

Take a few Kalzana tablets every day, then you are sure that your body gets the required Calcium in exactly the right combination. Kalzana has proved in thousands of cases that it will make teeth strong again by conquering the very cause of their weakness—lack of Calcium in the body. It will make your teeth strong and healthy, they will become white and decay will be stopped.

Start a course of Kalzana to-day, then you can both feel and see how your health improves. Remember that Kalzana is not a drug, but an absolutely harmless lime-food.

"No Promise Possible."

It was disclosed during last week that Lord Passfield, Secretary of State for the Colonies, has requested His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel, to inform the members of the Civil Service here that he is unable in the meantime to revert to the former method of payment of salaries on a dollar basis. He will review the position in the light of the Currency Commissioners' recent report, when the petitioners' representations will be carefully borne in mind, although no promise can be made that the decision can be varied.

It has always been considered anomalous that, in a Colony where the currency is based on the dollar salaries of Civil Servants should be fixed by the Colonial Office in London in sterling, and dependent on the rate of exchange. The agitation for a revision is by no means new. It has had the unanimous support of the Press of the Colony. It is a coincidence that one of our morning newspapers publishes to-day an extract from its file of June 29, 1906, referring to the decision in the Straits Settlements that all employees should be paid according to the currency of the country they are employed in and in which the revenue is raised. Commenting on that eminently sensible arrangement, our contemporary very properly argued that "Hong Kong Civil Servants should be paid in dollars, not pounds, and if it were possible even at this late hour to institute such an arrangement, it could prevent a vast amount of dissatisfaction among new officials and place the Government in a much better and happier position."

It would be considered equally anomalous to pay salaries on a sterling basis in Canada and Newfoundland. In Bermuda salaries are paid in sterling, but in British Guiana accounts are kept in dollars and cents, although British sterling and United States gold coin is current and legal tender. In Ceylon accounts are kept in rupees, and the money in circulation is Indian and Ceylon rupee currency, but the salaries of Civil Servants are fixed in sterling. The rupee, however, is standardised at the rate of 15 to the £. And so on right through the Dominions and Crown Colonies. Anomalies in the basis of salaries are as thick as leaves in Vallombrosa, pointing to the need for universal revision according to the needs of each particular Colony. A movement has been established for some time in favour of a uniform international currency, freed from the vagaries of exchange, but until that can become operative, an effort should be made in the direction of a uniform standard of currency for the British Empire. And, again, until that can be accomplished, the local agitation for the payment of all salaries on a dollar basis should be most persistently persevered with in the interests not alone of employees but of employers. "Olo custom" has long been a characteristic of the East, but it has no less a deadly grip over the Colonial Office and every other Department of the British Government. We in the Crown Colonies are ever at the mercy of the political Party in power and of the whims and fancies of the ever-changing heads of the Colonial Office.

News in Brief.

The ceremonies of the opening of the new Science Building at Stephen's College, Stanley, and the Unveiling of a memorial to the Hon. Mr. Chan Siu-ki will be performed by the Hon. Mr. Wilfrid T. Southern, C.M.G., Colonial Secretary, on Saturday at 8 p.m. Buses will leave the corner of Queen's Road, Central, and Pedder Street at 2 p.m.

Two months' hard labour was imposed on Fong Heung at the Kowloon Police Court this morning. The accused was employed as a feld at the Kwong Man Lung Laundry, Shanghai Street, and stole a window curtain and a quantity of clothing between May 2 and June 25. The master of the laundry has had to make good losses to the value of $100, since accused entered his employment.

AIRCRAFT NOISE NUISANCE.

"Restraint" Warning to Pilots.

MUST BE SUPPRESSED.

The army authorities in the U.S.A. have been taking notice of the distressing noise made by aircraft. In an effort to mitigate the nuisance, they issued a notice to military air-pilots advising them to exercise a certain restraint.

The Adjutant, Second Wing, U.S.A. Air Corps, Langley Field, Virginia, sent out the following notice:—
The airplane has ceased to be a novelty and a seven days' wonder, and the world is no longer thrilled at the sound of an approaching airplane. At least, this is true of the personnel and their families on Air Corps posts.

Consequently the pilot who returns from a cross-country flight and proceeds to drive down along the water front, jazzing his motor and making as much racket as possible, no longer attracts a gaping crowd from their houses to sunburn their tonsils while they gasp at the daring hero's return. Particularly is this true on Sunday and holiday afternoons.

Nor does one thrill with admiration for the intrepid birdman who is about to take flight when awakened in the small hours of dawn before reveille by that birdman's motors being warmed up with a vigour that would put a jazz orchestra to shame.

There are sweeter sounds in the early hours than that parting call of a wide open motor as the pilot circles the drowsy post below.

All of which should serve as a reminder to pilots to keep abreast of the times and discard the loud spectacularity of the type and put on the quiet dignity of the master.

There are three telephones in the Post Operation Office which may be used to notify your wives and families of your safe return. The notice is interesting on account of its divergence from the cold formality of the G.R.O.s so many of our soldiers knew during the war.

On Wednesday the whole of the three Schools with many friends and parents went by launches to the Lighthouse Island where they fully enjoyed a most delightful picnic, and thus brought to an end the jubilee celebrations of the founding in 1881 of the now justly famous Chefoo Schools.

Chefoo is crowded more than ever with visitors this year as the American Navy is here in full force. Magnificent weather adds much to the enjoyment of all and it looks as though we are to have a record summer year. The wheat harvest has been almost gathered in, and the farmers are now busy preparing for their next crops.

One of the latest of the American Navy's big boats is here, the U.S.S. Houston. She looks a magnificent ship, and one ready to fulfil all that could be expected from the modern navy. General Liu Chen-nien is away in the country inspecting his troops stationed around this centre.

BOAT RACE THRILLS AT CHEFOO.

Jubilee Foundation Day Celebrations.

CROWDED WITH VISITORS.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Chefoo, June 18.
The Jubilee Foundation Day celebrations were commenced on Monday afternoon with the usual Boat-races. The weather which had been threatening during the morning cleared nicely and the sun was shining brightly as the boats went forward to take up their positions.

The Junior Boys' School race was rowed first and was a capital race, the boats keeping well together till just before the finish when the Leander stroked by Paul Dille, with a well timed spurt crossed the line in 3 mins. 23.4/5 seconds.

The Girls' School race followed and was a good one from start to finish, the Leander stroked by Eleanor Ford, winning the laurels in 4 mins. 26 secs., thus beating last year's time by 9 secs. The Senior Boys' School crews were this year very closely matched and it was evident from the first that this would be a close race. The Leander was well stroked by David Landsborough, and was perhaps the favourite boat, but the Hero, stroked by Alf. C. Moore, with a slightly faster stroke, won a well rowed race in 4 mins. 31.5 secs., which was the best time made during the past 3 years.

Boating Colours were presented to the following girls:—Mary Bril, Eleanor Ford, and Mary Macpherson; and Caps to the following boys:—J. E. Hanna, B. C. Walker, A. C. Moore, N. D. Smith, J. Hearne, and T. J. Hirst.

The evening closed with the usual Boating Supper given by the Boys' School Coach, Mr. S. C. Martin.

At 8 o'clock on Tuesday morning the annual cricket match took place between the Boys' School 1st XI. and parents and visitors, when after a good game the former won with but a narrow majority.

At 11 o'clock the Memorial Hall was well filled to celebrate the jubilee of the opening of the Schools in 1881. The service was conducted by the Rev. A. H. Paers, who graphically but tersely outlined the history of the Schools from the commencement, telling of the gradual growth of both compound, and buildings as well as scholars during the past fifty years. Three telegrams were then read from Mr. and Mrs. F. McCarthy, Dr. and Mrs. Judd, and the Chefoo Schools Association, London, who sent their congratulations and best wishes; after which Jackson's Te Deum was sung as a Psalm of Thanksgiving. This was followed by an address given by an Old Boy, the Rev. Donald Irwin, who spoke most effectively on "Foundations." This service was brought to a close by the hearty singing of the hymn, "Forward be Our Watchword" and the Benediction.

Final Tournament.
At 3.30 p.m. a very large gathering assembled under the trees to enjoy a short time of fellowship and a good cup of tea so generously provided by the ladies of the three schools, and which always adds not a little to the enjoyment of Foundation Day. A move was then made to the tennis courts where several good games of tennis were played with the following results:—

The final of the School Tournament was played between Helen Best and Bertam Walker and B. Hanco and David Landsborough, the former pair winning a very closely contested game which was watched with keen interest throughout. The winners of the tournament are presented with a racquet each sent out by the Chefoo Schools Association of Old Girls and Boys.

Two games were then played by the runners up in the Tournament and were won by Edna Rist and Alf. Moore, and Irene Bannan and W. Thomas.

Then came the excitement of the afternoon when Past and Present Girls and Past and Present Boys played two sets each. The first game was a well fought one and resulted in a draw, while in the second game the Old Boys won the laurels, winning both sets.

Musical.
During the evening a very enjoyable musical was given by local friends to a large and appreciative audience, under the capable Chairmanship of Mr. S. G. Martin, who also gave one of his clever readings entitled "Socrates" at the Boat Race, while the boys of the 4th Form stirred the audience greatly as they recited in Latin an exciting piece entitled "How the Philosopher laid the Ghost." A most enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the singing of the metrical version of the 23rd Psalm.

ISLAM'S "DAY OF REST."

Turkey's Move for Reform.

CAUTION URGED.

The all-important religious-economic question of adopting the Christian Sunday as the Day of Rest in place of the Muslim Friday is again on the carpet.

During the final meeting of the People's Party Congress at Angora, it was voted that this reform should be included in the Party's programme for the coming year.

Some deputies took the floor, however, to warn the Government to be cautious with this measure, touching, as it does, the religious sensibilities of millions of Moslem-Turkish citizens.

Kurdish revolts and the agitation of fanatics at Memmen have somewhat tardily taught the Kemalists the wisdom of the "make haste slowly" adage.

Turkey's business loss in closing her market on Friday instead of the international no-business day of Sunday is bad enough. Even worse is the loss caused by business stagnation during the long religious holidays: the three days of the Candy Festival, the four days of Mutton Festival, and the thirty days of the fasting month of Ramadan.

Some deputies insist that it is more important to curtail these "months of Sundays" than to adopt Sunday itself.

A tentative step in that direction was the Government's taboo this year on the traditional official receptions during the Mutton Festival.

MURDER TRIAL SEQUEL.

No Compensation for Mr. Wallace.

NO PRECEDENT.

Compensation cannot be paid to Mr. William Herbert Wallace, the Liverpool insurance agent, whose conviction for the murder of his wife was quashed by the Court of Criminal Appeal.

This fact was announced by the Home Secretary, Mr. J. R. Clynes, in the House of Commons. He was replying to Mr. J. S. Clarke, who asked if Mr. Clynes would consider the question of a grant in compensation for the suffering and material injury endured by Mr. Wallace.

Mr. Clynes said there was no precedent for the grant of compensation on such grounds. Mr. Muggelidge asked whether it would not affect the course of justice in future if it cost £1,500 to secure an acquittal of this kind.

The Home Secretary—I cannot answer for the position of the law or the way it takes its course.

ORDERED TO LEAVE.

Doctor Creates Scene at Inquest.

DISAGREED WITH VERDICT.

A doctor, who said that he disagreed with the coroner's verdict at a Chichester, Sussex, inquest was removed by a police sergeant from the room by order of the coroner. Afterwards he was allowed to return and give evidence.

The inquest was on Private John Henry Billinson, of the Royal Sussex Regiment. While doing front dives over forms in the barrack room, Billinson landed on his forehead instead of his arms. He died in hospital.

After medical evidence the coroner (Mr. Loader Cooper) returned a verdict of accidental death. Dr. Brooke said that he disagreed entirely with the verdict, and the coroner ordered him to be removed.

DASH TO POLE.

Sir Hubert Wilkins Leaves London.

TO SEE EXPERTS.

London, Saturday. Sir Hubert Wilkins arrived in London from Devonport this morning and, in an interview, said that he was sailing for Norway to-day in order to discuss the situation with experts. In the meantime they are doing all possible with the Nautilus, awaiting certain parts of the machinery from America. He hoped to have the Nautilus repaired in time to make a dash to the Pole. —Reuter.

Shanghai, Yesterday. Quick progress is being made by the round-the-world fliers, Gatty and Post, who have arrived at Blagoveshchensk, on the Manchurian-Siberian border, 500 miles from Vladivostok. They landed in a mud-hole at 8 p.m., yesterday, Shanghai time, and in spite of the slight mishap, took off for Habarovsk early this morning. After leaving Novosibirsk in the early hours of yesterday morning, the fliers flew straight for Irkutsk, where they arrived at 11.55 p.m. leaving for Blagoveshchensk at 2.10 p.m.

Tokyo, Yesterday. A Harbin message states that Post and Gatty arrived at Habarovsk at 2.30 p.m. (Shanghai time), and started refuelling immediately for their flight to Nome (Alaska), but have decided to wait to take off at dawn to-morrow. —Reuter.

FEETHAM REPORT.

SHANGHAI'S FUTURE.

Shanghai, Saturday. Considerable importance is attached to a meeting this morning between Dr. C. T. Wang and Judge Feetham, whom the Nanjing Foreign Minister, who arrived from Nanjing yesterday, expressed a desire to see.

Dr. Wang and Judge Feetham met at the Shanghai office of the Nanjing Foreign Ministry and conversed for half an hour, but the subject of discussion was not divulged. It is believed, however, that it had something to do with Judge Feetham's report. —Reuter.

LIBERAL PARTY.

Rumour of a Serious Split.

London, Saturday. The Liberal Party is faced with a serious split. Three members of the House of Commons, Sir John Simon, Mr. Robert Hutchison, and Mr. Ernest Brown, are reported to have decided to sever connection with the Liberal Party as a protest against the alliance of Mr. Lloyd George and the Government. It is expected that they will write to the Liberal Chief Whip to this effect during the week-end, and it is believed that a number of other Liberals will follow their example. —Reuter.

ROUND THE CINEMAS

What Mail Reviewers Say.

"CITY LIGHTS."

Full houses at the Queen's Theatre yesterday roared with laughter at "City Lights" in which Charles Chaplin makes his comeback to the screen.

Although dressed the same as he appeared in "The Circus" and other silent-drama pictures of his, with those inimitable boots, that smile, and that twist of the cane, Chaplin, in his latest, is seen in the role of a tramp. In the course of his wanderings in a large city, he meets a blind flower girl, in whom he finds reconciliation. An eccentric millionaire is the tramp's best friend—but only when drunk!

Attired in an evening suit, not made for him, Chaplin is the guest of the millionaire, and they go to dinner at an hotel. The fun that follows is rollicking, especially when Charlie takes hold of an elderly lady and paces the floor with her. Then one sees Charlie in a boxing match, which is overflowing with fun!

Virginia Cherrill, as the blind girl, and Harry Myers in the role of the eccentric millionaire, both act splendidly, whilst Allan Garcia and Hank Mann are also in the supporting cast.

"SPLINTERS."

Imagine a Tommy in the front line receiving a sudden order to report at Army Headquarters at once. What for? What's up? He has done nothing... nothing serious. There was the mademoiselle at Doullens. There was the lark at Ypres. There was... but Army Headquarters! Phew! He goes. A friend cannot refrain from the fun of playing on his fears. He is ushered into the great presence. He hears the great voice. Is he Private Jones? He hears himself admit it. Was he a comedian in civilian life? He dare not deny it. He is shepherded out before he quite realises that he has been ordered to organise a show.

The see him commanding a motley mob of assistants. He transforms a derelict hut into a concert hall. He builds a stage of packing cases. What of footlights? Candles in bottles. What of curtains? Where get scenes, properties, costumes? He begs, borrows, commandeers, requisitions, scrounges. He invents, devises, and improvises. Sacking becomes drapery. Old curtains over forms become furniture. Piled-up sugar-boxes leap into ornamental pillars. But, famine of fables, what of artists?

Then the humours of his search for talent! His auditions of perspiring aspirants, comic, pathetic, grotesque. Yet not all, for he made discoveries. He found his nucleus. Above all, he found Reg Stone. He raked author's material from the four corners of the First Army's memory, probably without fee or scruple. He rehearsed. And at last the first audience was seated for the first concert.

The huff of khaki so enjoyed bawling the overture of popular songs, that nobody minded a bit the late rise of the curtain. The concert was historic, and the laughter hysterical, especially where none was intended. Certainly more things went awry than at any first night in history. Leaned-on pillars oscillated. Furniture gave way, and memories, too. Unrehearsed effects abounded, and went best. But the triumph over misfortunes was due to the amazing female impersonation of Reg Stone and the resourceful drolleries of Hal Jones. The concert ended merrily, though critics were not wanting. But Lord Horne, and General Parker, saw through the crudities to the possibilities.

It is these beginnings that the film "Splinters" having its final showing to-day at the King's Theatre, first depicts, and then their developments. It shows how the critics set Hal Jones' teeth; how he strove and expanded the party. How they were called "Les Rouges et Noires". How Lord Horne built them "The Bra Sat" Theatre. And how this experienced and equipped First Army Concert Party played "Splinters" in that theatre with a full beauty chorus, every lady a gentleman.

"STOLEN HEAVEN."

People who believe in taking their entertainment seriously, who know that an hour and a half of enjoyment of real memory-creating, discussion-evoking observation will find in "Stolen Heaven" Nancy Carroll, now dramatic sensation which opened at the Central Theatre yesterday, something really enjoyable, and at the same

PEKING REDS.

Raid on Sincere Co.'s Offices.

ASSISTANT ARRESTED.

time, worth while, in talking picture pleasure. "Stolen Heaven" brings the winsome star of "The Devil's Holiday" and "Laughter" forward in still other characterisation, as different from her two previous revealing portrayals as they were from each other.

Here, seen again with the handsome blond leading man of "The Devil's Holiday," Phillips Holmes, Miss Nancy Carroll plays the part of a discouraged and life-weary girl whose one good deed saves Holmes from the Police. Holmes, as sick as she is, proposes that they spend the proceeds of a robbery—he has committed in one last, gay fling at life, and then together, seek death. They plunge madly into a feverish melee of gambling, dancing, dining, playing. The money is soon exhausted, and nothing remains for Holmes but death. A millionaire playboy offers Nancy marriage. But Holmes and Nancy discovered their love for each other, and love adds a new meaning to life, makes it something worth fighting for.

George Abbott, the distinguished stage-screen director, has done nothing finer than "Stolen Heaven" in all his years of staging. The story moves with gripping intensity, the characters change perceptibly, as the plot develops, the sets are vivid and real. "Stolen Heaven" is an exciting picture, happily devoid of any forced "dramatics," yet rounded and filled with vibrant realism.

It's pictures like "Stolen Heaven" that are making talking picture theatres a heaven for intelligent pleasure seekers.

"PLUNDER."

"Plunder" is the kind of real comedy that Britons like. In an advance view at the Central Theatre yesterday, we had plenty of laughter when the picture, which has such noted comedians as Ralph Lynn and Tom Walls, was presented. It is a treat to see Ralph Lynn acting the part of "Tuck," who, on trying to restore the inheritance to the girl he loves, conspires burglary, eventually non-plussed the woman who defrauded the girl and outwitted Scotland Yard. Though British in the make, the sound was recorded by the Western Electric Company, and the dialogue proved to be the clearest one we've ever heard of a talking picture in this Colony.

All through, the picture is purely British, free of slang that is difficult to understand, and is throughout laugh-provoking to the very extent without any nonsense.

Minus the two famous leading men, the supporting cast, with such good players as Winifred Shotter, Mary Brough and Herbert Waring, is also worth watching.

"Plunder" is the next attraction at the Central Theatre.

"GENERAL CRACK"

Nicknames usually find their beginning in some physical eccentricity or as the result of some novel incident, but the name "General Crack," the title of John Barrymore's first all-talking Vitaphone starring vehicle to be seen on Sunday next at the Queen's Theatre, had an original source. The Barrymore hero, as the rightful heir to a dukedom, bore the high-sounding name of Christian Rudolph Augustus Christopher Ketlar. The first letter of each name combined, spells "Crack." A military leader of signal ability, he is known throughout eighteenth century Europe as General Crack, the idol of soldiers and women and the fear of royalty.

Marian Nixon and Armida have the leading feminine roles in support of Barrymore in "General Crack" while Hobart Bosworth, Lowell Sherman, Jacqueline Logan, Otto Matison, Andres de Seurlas, Douglas Gerrard, Philippe de Lacy, William von Brinken, Theodore Lodi and others have important parts.

A special issue of the Calgary Herald, entitled "Builders of Greater Calgary Number," furnishes some interesting data bearing upon the recent progress of the city. It points out that in 1884, when Calgary was incorporated as a town, it had a population of 500, which in 1926 had grown to 85,512, and now stands around 85,000. It notes that nearly 400 new homes were built in 1930, and a hundred more since the beginning of the year.

BOGUS BARRISTER.

"Sir A. Chamberlain is a Chum of Mine."

CONVICTED SIX TIMES.

A man who claimed that he had been an M.P. and who said he counted Sir Austen Chamberlain, and Mr. Neville Chamberlain as "chums" was sent to prison for 12 months at Southend in mail week for obtaining £5 by false pretences. He was Harry Mitchell, aged 73, of Royal Crescent, Holland Park, London, W.

It was alleged that by posing as a barrister-at-law he induced Mr. William Court and Mr. Henry Carlington, two Westcliff business men, to part with £2 10s. each by offering to conduct arbitration proceedings on their behalf.

During the case Mitchell broke his spectacles, and the chairman of the Bench, Sir John Francis, lent him a pair.

"When I was 23," said Mitchell, "my income was £15,000 a year. I was declared at that time to be the greatest arbitrator and assessor in all England."

"In 1837 and for the next six years I represented East Toxteth in Parliament as a Conservative."

"I Charge The Police."

Shaking his fist dramatically at the superintendent in charge of the court, Mitchell went on: "I solemnly charge the police of Southend with the judicial murder of my wife. But for the blows and kicks which she gave her as a result of my prosecution she would have been alive to-day."

"I shall claim heavy compensation from the police."

Mitchell, it was stated, had been convicted six times since 1923 for false pretences.

Mr. Edward Alfred Godston, secretary of the General Council of the Bar said Mitchell was not a barrister.

After being sentenced Mitchell said he would appeal.

East Toxteth was represented from 1835 until 1895 by Baron H. de Worms. A work of reference covering the period does not include the name of Harry Mitchell as a Parliamentary candidate.

TOURISTS' ATTACK DEADLY.

WOOLLEY DEFIANT.

Peebles Captures His Hundredth.

INTERESTING SITUATION.

London, Saturday.

At the conclusion of the first day's play in the Test match between England and New Zealand at Lord's the Home Country are 34 runs in arrears with three wickets in hand.

After scoring 130 for the loss of two wickets the New Zealanders collapsed sensationally before the bowling of Peebles and Robins, two youthful amateurs, and lost their remaining eight wickets for 94 runs. At one period of the game the visitors lost four wickets for 31 runs. When Hammond caught Allcott in the slips he gave Peebles his hundredth wicket of the season.

With such a low total against them from a powerful batting side England opened disastrously, Arnold and Bakewell being sent back to the pavilion for only 14 runs. Only partnerships of 67 for the fifth wicket and 59 for the sixth wicket saved England from total collapse against the bowling of Crompton and Merritt.

Morally bowled when 40, Frank Woolley compiled 80, after scoring the half century in an hour. He scored his runs out of a total of 126 scored whilst he was at the crease.

LAWN BOWLS.

Kowloon C.C. Continue Unbeaten.

POLICE GO DOWN AGAIN.

Kowloon Cricket Club continued their unbeaten bowls career this season by winning on Saturday by 65 shots to 55. Two rinks went to the Cricket Club, Lapaley and Silkestone being tied on the other with 18 shots each. The Kowloon Second League side completed a double with a very easy win over the Hong Kong Electric, who were trimmed to the tune of 76 to 46, Lunny's rink being 13 shots down, and Webster's down by twelve.

Craigengower, on their own ground, had little difficulty in disposing of Kowloon Bowling Green, being 22 shots ahead. The seconds went over to the Bowling Green's headquarters, and returned victorious by six points.

Police did as usual—went down, this time to the Civil Service, who were ten shots to the good on the Police ground. The Civil Service seconds were exactly the same number of points ahead of the Yacht Club in the match at the Valley.

Talkoo seconds were very narrowly beaten by Recreio, only one point separating the sides at the finish. The Portuguese team were badly down on one rink, but respectable leads on the others just got them home.

Details were as under—

AVIATION AT BASSEIN.

Aeroplane Landing
Station.

JAIL LABOUR USED.

Bassein, June 1.
The construction of the aero-plane landing station, at Myetto,
about 4 miles from Bassein Town,
has been completed. It has cost of about Rs. 112,000.

The erection of the station was sanctioned by the Government of India and the work began over a year ago. The contractor requisitioned jail labour, and prisoners
with the requisite experience were brought in from all over the Province
and located in a camp, jail
under the control of a jailer. The chief jailer and the Superintendent of the Bassein Central Jail
supervised the camp.

A tube-well has been bored and
the place has been connected with Bassein Town and the wireless aviation station by telephone.
The Burma Oil Company, it is understood, will install a petrol
tank over there for the convenience of aerial travellers. The landing is very close to the Railway Station at Myetto on the Bassein-Henzade line. It will be used as a landing base by air-craft only if emergencies arise. It will not be a regular calling station on the route. The landing of aeroplanes at this station will depend upon
state of visibility over the Arakan Yomas.

As a necessary adjunct to and complement of the aeroplane landing station, a wireless aviation station has been constructed near the Kanthozine Lakes, Bassein, at an approximate cost of Rs. 90,000,
including buildings and wireless equipment.

The station buildings consist of officers' quarters, engine operation
room and servants' and durwan's
quarters.

The station is equipped with a direction-finding receiver and a continuous wave transmitter. The former is a Marconi-type 12A. Receiver working in conjunction with Bellini-Tosi aerials, and the latter a 1 1/2 k.w. Marconi continuous wave transmitter of the latest type,
capable of working on a wave length of 600 to 8,000 metres, but will transmit on 900 metres only,
for aircraft communication.

An interesting feature is the two mast headlights which, in the ordinary course, will be lit up to warn a craft of obstructions to navigation. In the event of either light going out four alarm bells
will automatically operate to warn
the staff that a light has gone out.
This will necessitate switching on a duplicate bulb which is always kept in readiness and thus obviate
any possibility of failure to warn
a craft.

The station is primarily intended for aviation purposes but will be called on to work any stations in an emergency. It is being equipped and maintained by the Wireless Branch of the Government Telegraph Department.

SILENCE OF "BOW BELLS."

Funds For Repair Not Forthcoming.

What is the reason of the apparent apathy of the general public towards the future of the world-
famous "Bow Bells" and the church
that houses them?
Five years and a half ago the bells of St. Mary-le-Bow were silenced for the first time since the Great Fire of London in 1666. It had been discovered that three of the twelve bells were cracked, that the others needed re-hanging, and that the steeple that held them was suffering from the effects of the disastrous Silvertown explosion of 1917.

It was decided that a sum of £15,000 was needed to repair the church, and afterwards it was found necessary to launch an appeal fund.
The City Corporation voted 1,000
guineas; the Grocers' Company advanced a further 500 guineas; yet the general public, especially the true
"Cockney" to whom the appeal was directed, has so far only played a minor part in bringing the whole amount subscribed to the measure
total of £22,000—in three years.

St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside, is famous all over the world; no member of the famous race of Cockneys is born beyond the sound of its bells. Yet the churchwardens cannot raise the sum of £15,000 to save the church from ruin and to set the bells ringing once more.
The annual income of the church
was originally £3,000; now it has been reduced to £250. Accordingly the future of St. Mary-le-Bow depends absolutely on the funds

AN ANGLO-CATHOLIC
SOCIETY RULE.

Members Give Incomes
But Not Capital.

RIGHT OF A SISTER.

In the Chancery Division recently
Mr. Justice Farwell had before him a dispute concerning the right of a sister in an Anglo-Catholic religious order to share in a testator's residuary estate. It was argued that under a clause in the will she was debared.

The plaintiffs were Mr. Andrew
Agnew Bell and Mr. Ernest Frederick Agnew, the trustees under the will of the late Mr. George Frederick Bell, and the principal defendant was Marion Agnew, a sister in the Society of St. Margaret, at East Grinstead (Sussex),
who claimed to be entitled to one seventh of the residuary estate. Six other relatives claimed the residue,
to the exclusion of Marion Agnew.

Mr. Bell made bequests to the children of his late uncle, living at the date of the testator's death.
There was a proviso that if any such child had joined a religious body to which he was under a "religious obligation" to give up his property, and failed to renounce such religious body within six months of the testator's death, that child should be deemed to have died within the testator's lifetime, and forfeit his share of the residue.

It was argued on behalf of Marion Agnew that the clause was too vague.
For the other relatives it was submitted that Marion Agnew had,
by the vows she had taken, been deprived of the control of her property, and that she was under the "religious obligation" contemplated
by the will.

Mr. Justice Farwell, giving judgment, observed that in the society's rules it was provided that any capital owned by a sister was to remain in her hands, and she had the right to dispose of it. She must, however, give up the income
to the society.

He could not find that Marion Agnew had done anything which prevented her taking the share of the estate to which she would otherwise be entitled under the will, and he found in her favour.

"RIPPER" TRIAL.

Prosecution Costs Only £750.

MEAGRE FEES.

The prosecution of Peter Kuer-
ten, the Düsseldorf mass murderer,
is stated to have cost not more than £750. This sum includes the cost of the judicial inquiry which lasted several months, fees to mental specialists and witnesses,
and the construction of the temporary court in which Kuernten was tried.

The fees paid to the specialists
appear to have been meagre by British standards. One specialist only received £2 for furnishing a report consisting of 400 pages of typewritten matter.
The cost to the ratepayer of the County of Northamptonshire in connection with the trial of Rouse,
who was convicted of the murder
of an unknown man in what was described as "the blazing car case,"
was between £1,500 and £2,000.

German Rouse Guiltless.
Tetzner, the German Rouse, has been acquitted at Regensburg.
He went quietly to the block, very pale, but otherwise betrayed no agitation. He had passed the previous night in the company of a priest at his own request.
The executioner, a hairdresser by profession, was dressed in an immaculate frockcoat and white tie.
He had two assistants.

RUBBER FLOORS.

Hotel on Site of Lord
Bute's Old Home.

Noisless yet central is the just claim of the Eccleston Hotel, in Eccleston Square, two minutes
away from Victoria Station
and London.

The floors throughout are of rubber, and its proprietor, Sir James Monteith Erskine, said that it was the only hotel in the world to be equipped in this manner.

The Eccleston is built on the site
of the Margulies of Bute's London
home, and overlooks very pleasant gardens. Considerable extensions were found necessary, and when these were made, the hotel was thoroughly transformed. All had telephones, and most of them their own private telephones.
Although the service and the management are on thoroughly modern lines, the prices are moderate.

SLATE QUARRY
ARTISTS.

3,000 Miles Journey to Make a Roof.

LEEDS TO BERMUDA.

Six experts at a highly skilled craft have gone from Leeds to Bermuda, 3,000 miles away, to assist in the construction of a new 2500,000 luxury hotel that is being built on the island by a British firm.

They are slaters and they are to prepare for use the 120 tons of slate specially sent from Westmorland.

British Slaters Best.
British slate is the best in the world and British slaters the cleverest workmen. The home industry in North Wales, Scotland and Westmorland, in common with many other industries, has been severely hit in recent years by the dumping of supplies from abroad,
and many once prosperous quar-
ries have been closed.

As early as the fifteenth century
the adaptability of slate for roofing purposes had been discovered for the North Welsh peasants who, in quarrying the slopes of the mountains for stone to build their cottages, found that slate, by its smoothness, flatness and perfect cleavage into light, thin slices, was the ideal material for roofing.

Good slate roofs last for hundreds of years especially if they are laid by experts.
Slaters are craftsmen whose art
is often handed down from one generation to another. The splitting and shaping of the blocks,
when done by hand, requires two men who perform their work in a sitting posture.

Splitting The Block.
The splitter places a block on end between his knees and with chisel and mallet deftly splits it into as many plates as possible of the usual thickness for roofing purposes. The plates are then placed horizontally by the dresser in a vertical iron stand and cut with a sharp knife into slates suitable for the market.

There are thirty or more recognised sizes, each distinguished by a different name.
In common practice, those
generally used are "large ladies," 16ins. by 10ins., "countesses," 20ins.
by 10ins., and "duchesses," 24ins.
by 12ins. It is possible, therefore,
to have more tiles on one's roof
than there are in Burke's Peerage.
The nails used in slating are an important item, and the durability
of the work largely depends on them. Most satisfactory are those made of a composition of copper
and zinc.

RIGHT OF APPEAL.

Difficulties in Way of Removing Grievance.

BILL IN THE COMMONS.

The second reading of the Summary Jurisdiction (Appeals) Bill—
the object of which is to enable poor people to prosecute appeals against convictions—was agreed to in the Commons.

Sir John Withers said it was proposed that a poor person should not be prevented from appealing simply because he had not got the money
to give security for the costs.

Sir W. Greaves, supporting the Bill mentioned a case in which a poor man of good character who befriended a cat and, when the cat
became a little obnoxious, turned it out. A certain society prosecuted him, and he was sentenced to 14 days' imprisonment without the option of a fine.

It so happened that he was a Jew,
and the Jewish race kept very careful watch over their poor. Some wealthy Jews provided the money
for an appeal, and the appeal was successful. Many cases in which these injuries occurred could be found, and it was time that a remedy was found for a crying
grievance.

Mr. Short, (Parliamentary Under-Secretary, Home Office), replying to the debate, said he had a great deal of sympathy with the purpose of the measure.

The official he had consulted about this matter also had plenty of sympathy with the object of the Bill, and recognised that there was a grievance which ought to be remedied, but it was an intricate and complicated problem. Many of the existing grievances were not covered by the Bill.

Reference had been made to the question of frivolous appeals. In 1928 22,000 persons were sentenced to imprisonment without the option of a fine. These figures showed the nature of the problem involved.
If they were to have a free right
of appeal without safeguards there would be an overwhelming number of cases, and the administration of the law would be seriously handicapped.
The Bill was read a second time
without a division.

PASSIONEL.

French Jury's Verdict of
"Not Guilty."

FIANCEE KILLED.

A characteristic murder verdict
was given at the Paris Assizes recently. A young man had killed his fiancée on finding out about her past. He was acquitted.

The case is an admirable example of what has been called "licensed assassination."
A young engineer called Andre Bourdin became the lover of a young girl, Mlle. Aubin, whom he was anxious to marry.

A short time before the engagement was to become official he discovered a letter in his fiancée's room which disclosed that she was having intimate relations with a wealthy older man. A scene ensued as the result of which Bour-din left, declaring his intention of committing suicide. He was dissuaded, however, from this by the girl's brother and decided instead to go and see his rival. The latter advised him to be sensible and not to "take women too tragically."

Ignoring this counsel, Bourdin
returned to his fiancée and reproached her. Exasperated by his behaviour the girl first admitted that she was not what he thought
she was and then went on to mention that only the day before she had given herself to a man for 1,000 francs. On hearing this Bourdin produced a revolver and shot her.

Bourdin's explanation, which was heard at the trial, was that he had acted in a moment of blind despair, meaning to take his own life afterwards.

Bourdin's counsel, Maître de Horo-Giaferri, took full advantage of this plea, which seldom fails to move a French jury.
Employing all the arts of theatrical oratory, the counsel held the court under the domination of his voice and gestures for over two hours, and after representing in hyperbatic terms the agony of disillusionment and painting the victim and her family in the blackest colours, he culminated with a tremendous peroration ending with the words "if she (the victim) could speak I swear that she would ask for your pity."

The jury were absent for half an hour, at the end of which they returned a verdict of "not guilty."

S.S. PRINCESS ELIZABETH.

Royal Names For Giant Liners.

It is understood that the two giant Cunarders will be named Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose, after the two daughters of the Duke and Duchess of York.
The 73,000-ton liner which is now in an advanced state of construction in the yards of John Brown and Co. on the Clyde, will be christened Princess Elizabeth.

It is possible that the King will perform the launching ceremony
next Spring.

The introduction of two "princess ships" will end a tradition that began with the formation of the Cunard Line more than ninety years ago. All of their vessels have been christened with names ending in "ia." Many names have been suggested for the two new super-liners, and officials of the company have been considering the problem ever since construction began.
The first vessels is one of the few ships ever built in Britain
which was nameless when the keel was laid. She is known simply as "Number 534 Cunard."

DEAF JUROR AND A RETRIAL.

A jury were considering their verdict in a case at London Sessions when the foreman informed the deputy chairman, Sir Herbert Wilberforce, that one of the jurymen was deaf and had not heard the evidence.

Sir Herbert discharged the jury
from giving a verdict, remarking that it was unfortunate that the fact had not been mentioned before. The Court then proceeded to retry the case with a new jurymen
in the place of the one who was deaf.

results justify expectations other shipments will follow. Four car-

forty and fifty head, constitute the shipment. The cattle, which were inspected, sorted and weighed at Winnipeg, were embarked with a consignment of Alberta cattle as-

FIGHTING DISEASE IN THE EAST.

Singapore International Clearing House.

LEAGUE ACTIVITIES.

"In these days of rapid transit it will be readily understood that the health of the people of one country is to a certain extent dependent on the health of the people of other countries with whom there is communication by air, land and sea."

The above statement was made by Dr. C. L. Park of the League of Nations Far Eastern Health Bureau, in a lecture he delivered at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club of Singapore.

The mandate of the Health Organisation contained in Article 23 of the Covenant, said Dr. Park, provided that members of the League shall "take steps in matters of international concern for the prevention and control of disease." He proposed to confine his remarks to one section of the League's health work, namely, the Medical Intelligence Section.

At their first meeting the Health Committee of the League considered the question of organising a more rapid interchange of information regarding the health of countries, and especially regarding infectious and epidemic diseases.

The speaker continued: This led to the establishment at Geneva of a Service of Epidemiological Intelligence and Public Health Statistics, which receives current official reports on the prevalence of notifiable communicable disease from practically all countries where such information is available. This is published and distributed to all health administrations weekly, or in case of epidemics, daily. Monthly and annual reports are also prepared and distributed giving confirmatory reports and detailed information of the position of the World in regard to the more important communicable diseases.

Plague in the East.

Countries in the East have been for years, not only the homes of epidemic diseases, but what is very important, also the centres for distribution; for example, the epidemic of Plague that has caused millions of deaths was probably conveyed by shipping from Hong Kong. Consequently, it is not to be wondered at, that in the early days of the existence of the League's health organisation it was decided to collect information regarding the prevalence of diseases, especially those of international importance, in the largest ports of the East, and to consider the measures taken to prevent their exportation.

It was soon manifest that the appearance and prevalence of such diseases was not being communicated to the countries most concerned quickly enough to allow measures of defence to be taken against their introduction.

If health administrations know that particular ports or countries are afflicted by epidemic disease and the merchandise and people are constantly arriving from these places, they can take definite measures both in respect of their own population, and of the ships, goods and people who arrive, to prevent the danger to themselves.

In the case of plague, for example, they can, as rats are the medium of transmission, carry out routine measures for the destruction of the rodents in their own ports. They can, further, take such precautionary measures in regard to arriving vessels as are deemed necessary to prevent rats being conveyed ashore.

In some ports for example, every vessel coming from a plague-infected port is submitted to fumigation measures designed to kill rats before being allowed to unload their cargo, also arrangements could be made between countries by which infected ports took measures to prevent rats being conveyed on board during cargo loading operations.

Singapore Clearing House.

The need was to obtain and circulate early and accurate information, and this obviously entailed the establishment of an international clearing house for information regarding disease in the East.

Under his guidance the Bureau was established with the following aim, viz., to bring into touch with one another all the Health Administrations over a wide area stretching from Vladivostok to Port Said on the one hand, and from South Africa and the East Coast of Africa to the Panama Canal including the whole Austral-Pacific Zone on the other hand.

Naturally it took some little time to arrange with all the administrations concerned for the desired information to be centralized; but to-day regular communications are being received from 51 administrations which include 147 ports.

Should it happen that plague, cholera or smallpox occur in any of these ports which has been free from them for a period of three weeks or more, the Bureau is immediately notified by cable, and this information is followed by regular weekly cables so long as the outbreak lasts. Supplementary information is forwarded each week by post so that the Bureau knows, not only that the disease exists, but also its source, extent and progress as well as the measures taken to control it. A special code has been devised to maintain the confidential nature of the information forwarded and also to save expense in cabling.

In addition to this notification of first cases countries where disease persists cable each week the number of cases and deaths from plague (including infected rats), typhus, or cerebro-spinal meningitis, which have occurred in the week ending on the previous Saturday at midnight.

The Bureau is also informed by post of the general condition of the public health of the countries in the Eastern zone, of the prevalence of other infectious and general diseases; of any quarantine restrictions placed on arrivals of infected ports and generally of any happening of public health importance.

Broadcasting The Information.

The action taken by the Bureau in regard to information received varies as follows:—

Notifications of first cases in a port are cabled immediately to the administrations of ports in regular communication with the infected one. Geneva is advised and immediately informs Paris in accordance with international obligations. A broadcast message is transmitted from Malabar in clear for the benefit of ships masters and medical officers and this is repeated daily for seven days. Experience has shown that these messages can be picked up from Japan to the Red Sea.

Cabled notifications of the weekly number of cases of diseases in ports are broadcast in code every Friday from Saigon. This broadcast is picked up and retransmitted by Malabar and Tananarive and Nauen every Saturday. 17 countries pick up the Saigon message, 12 that from Tananarive and 6 that from Malabar. To those administrations that are unable to pick up the broadcast, cables are despatched every Thursday. They number 9 only.

A summary of the code broadcast is transmitted in clear from Malabar and repeated daily for the ensuing week. This broadcast is picked up by Hong Kong and Tokyo, and retransmitted on Fridays and by Karachi, Madras, Sandakan and Shanghai and re-transmitted each Saturday.

In addition to these cables and broadcasts, a printed summary is prepared each Friday and despatched (about 500 copies) to all health administrations, ports and other interested people in the Eastern arena.

Another important function is the transmission of information regarding infected vessels. Should a vessel arrive with disease on board at any important port in this area, the Bureau is immediately notified and transmits the information to the next port of call.

A service of the kind described could only be carried out by an international body such as the League, and with the passing of time the Bureau's activities have become more and more extensive, until now there is not an important port in the East which does not communicate regularly with the Bureau, and through it with every other port in this wide area.

Through the generosity of the Rockefeller Foundation money was made available, and such a clearing house established at Singapore in 1925 as part of the League's organisation. The first Director was Dr. Brooke.

Under his guidance the Bureau was established with the following aim, viz., to bring into touch with one another all the Health Administrations over a wide area stretching from Vladivostok to Port Said on the one hand, and from South Africa and the East Coast of Africa to the Panama Canal including the whole Austral-Pacific Zone on the other hand.

MEDICAL EVIDENCE CHALLENGED

embarrassed either the prosecution or the defence. In this case it has been very embarrassing for the defence.

Counsel, after going through the evidence, contended that confusion was rife throughout. If one portion of evidence could not be taken, it was obvious that the others could not. His assertion was that the evidence was not worthy of credence. The jury could not convict upon it. They must apply to it the same tests as they would do were the prisoner in the dock a friend, and held in personal regard.

An Impossible Story.
"It is all very well to say that in the main these women agree," said Mr. Jenkin. But if certain parts of their stories are impossible, what is the good of saying they must be believed? I say that the evidence given by the third woman witness as regards the application of the ligature round the neck, by the prisoner, is sufficient to warrant your disagreeing with her evidence in its entirety, or at least that it raises such a doubt that you cannot return a verdict of 'guilty.' You must hesitate a great deal before accepting any of this evidence."

Boy's Tale Worthless.
Regarding the little boy's evidence, counsel was of the opinion that it was practically worthless. "It was most unpleasant and a painful duty to cross-examine him," he said, "considering his age, stature and intelligence. It would have been a mercy if the Crown could have avoided calling him at all, but perhaps they did right, in that if they had not done so, they would have laid themselves open to criticism."

Dr. Uttley's Evidence.
Mr. Jenkin then dealt with the evidence of Dr. Uttley. He submitted that if what should have been done at the post-mortem was not done, the jury would have to reject the evidence. Dr. Uttley's opinion did not warrant a moment's respect, and Counsel submitted, the jury in that Court had to have before them the best and fullest data.

Counsel said that Dr. Uttley was the one and only medical witness for the Crown and it was his duty to give his facts and findings in the best, fullest way, and was the jury not entitled to have it?

Medical science, contended Counsel, was a complicated affair, and it did not require a great deal of imagination for anybody to conclude that the man's death had come about through some injury, if not, then by natural causes. Dealing with the ligature, Mr. Jenkin submitted that the jury had to be satisfied by the fullest satisfactory proof that the ligature put round the man's neck caused strangulation.

Counsel went on to deal with the duties of a doctor in performing a post-mortem examination, particularly in a case where he knew that the lives of a man or men were involved. "It was obviously the doctor's duty to make a most scrupulous examination of the body, externally and internally. 'If he does not do that,' said Counsel, 'then the mouth of any other medical man is shut.'"

Points on Strangulation.
Strangulation was divided up into three sections; the external or internal marks of injury caused by a ligature, the organs of the body, and the question of whether or not there were any remarkable lesions about the facial features. Regarding the ligature mark, Mr. Jenkin said that the doctor had made it most positive that in his opinion the external appearances of the ligature mark was such that the ligature could only be applied before death.

Dr. Uttley, submitted Counsel, had agreed that the tissues in the neck were alive after death, and the blood could be pressed down. The unfortunate part of that was that the medical man had not made a single note on it, nothing that could possibly help anybody. The most dangerous thing that any medical witness could do was to rely on his recollections.

Dealing with the organs of the body, Mr. Jenkin said that Dr. Uttley had deposed that the brain, lungs and heart were congested, and these were the general symptoms of strangulation. Counsel then produced photographic copies of Dr. Uttley's internal examination of the body. He handed one to each member of the jury.

"Look at the notes, gentlemen," requested Counsel. "It is no pleasure of mine to criticize a professional friend of mine. But see what is written against the heart—a tick—which means that it was normal. The brain he has left blank."

Dr. Uttley in the box, had not recalled the examination until he saw a Police report in which he (witness) stated that all the organs were congested. And yet, said Counsel, he had stated that there were only three organs that were congested.

Facial Matters.

Mr. Jenkin went on to deal with facial matters. After giving in detail what should appear in the face of a person who has been strangled, i.e., bulging of the eyes, etc. Counsel said that Dr. Uttley had made no note on the appearance of the face. Those notes would have been of the most vital importance in regard to the strangulation.

"It may be through pressure of other work," Counsel contended, "that the post-mortem was conducted in so hasty a manner." Dr. Uttley had admitted that his notes were of no use to anybody, and Counsel submitted, that the notes would be of no use at all in refreshing Dr. Uttley's memory. On the contrary it would cause confusion of the mind and, said Counsel firmly,

CRIME FOLLOWS SLUMP.

Offences Increase by 4,112 in a Year.

GRIM READING.

Crime is increasing to an uncomfortable extent in Britain. The figures issued officially by the Home Office make grim reading, although they only refer to the year 1929.

There were in that year 134,581 indictable offences known to the police, an increase of 4,112 over the previous year.

One of the most disconcerting features is the steadily growing number of crimes committed by girls between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one and by lads of all ages under twenty-one.

Districts of the country have their particular crimes. Thus the incidence of crimes against property and of sexual offences is higher in the North than in the South, but on the other side crimes of violence and currency and coinage offences are higher in the South.

"Upon the whole" states the report "there can be little doubt that the all-round increase of crime in the North was due to industrial depression."

Cases of murder during the year under review totalled 103. There were only four unsolved murders during the period and three of them were accounted for by the Croydon poisoning mystery—the three deaths being counted in the records as one murder case.

HONG KONG NURSES

Attraction at London Inspection.

AMBULANCE CENTENARY.

London, Saturday.

To mark the end of the century celebrations of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, 7,000 members from brigades drawn throughout the Empire were inspected at Hyde Park by Prince Arthur of Connaught, who deputised for the Prince of Wales. The Prince was unable to attend, owing to his presence at the British Legion conference at Inverness.

Nurses from Hong Kong proved a great attraction, dressed in their topees, white frocks, shoes and stockings.—Reuter.

"In truth, Dr. Uttley did give incorrect evidence."

Wound on the Head.

Dealing with the wound on the head, Counsel said that Dr. Uttley had made no note as to its possible cause beyond the fact that there was a wound. It was Dr. Uttley's opinion that death could not have come about by concussion. But what was that opinion worth?

"It put it to you" declared Counsel, "that whether that view accords with the correct medical position or not, coming from the mouth of this doctor in this case, it is not one in which you have the certitude which is essential."

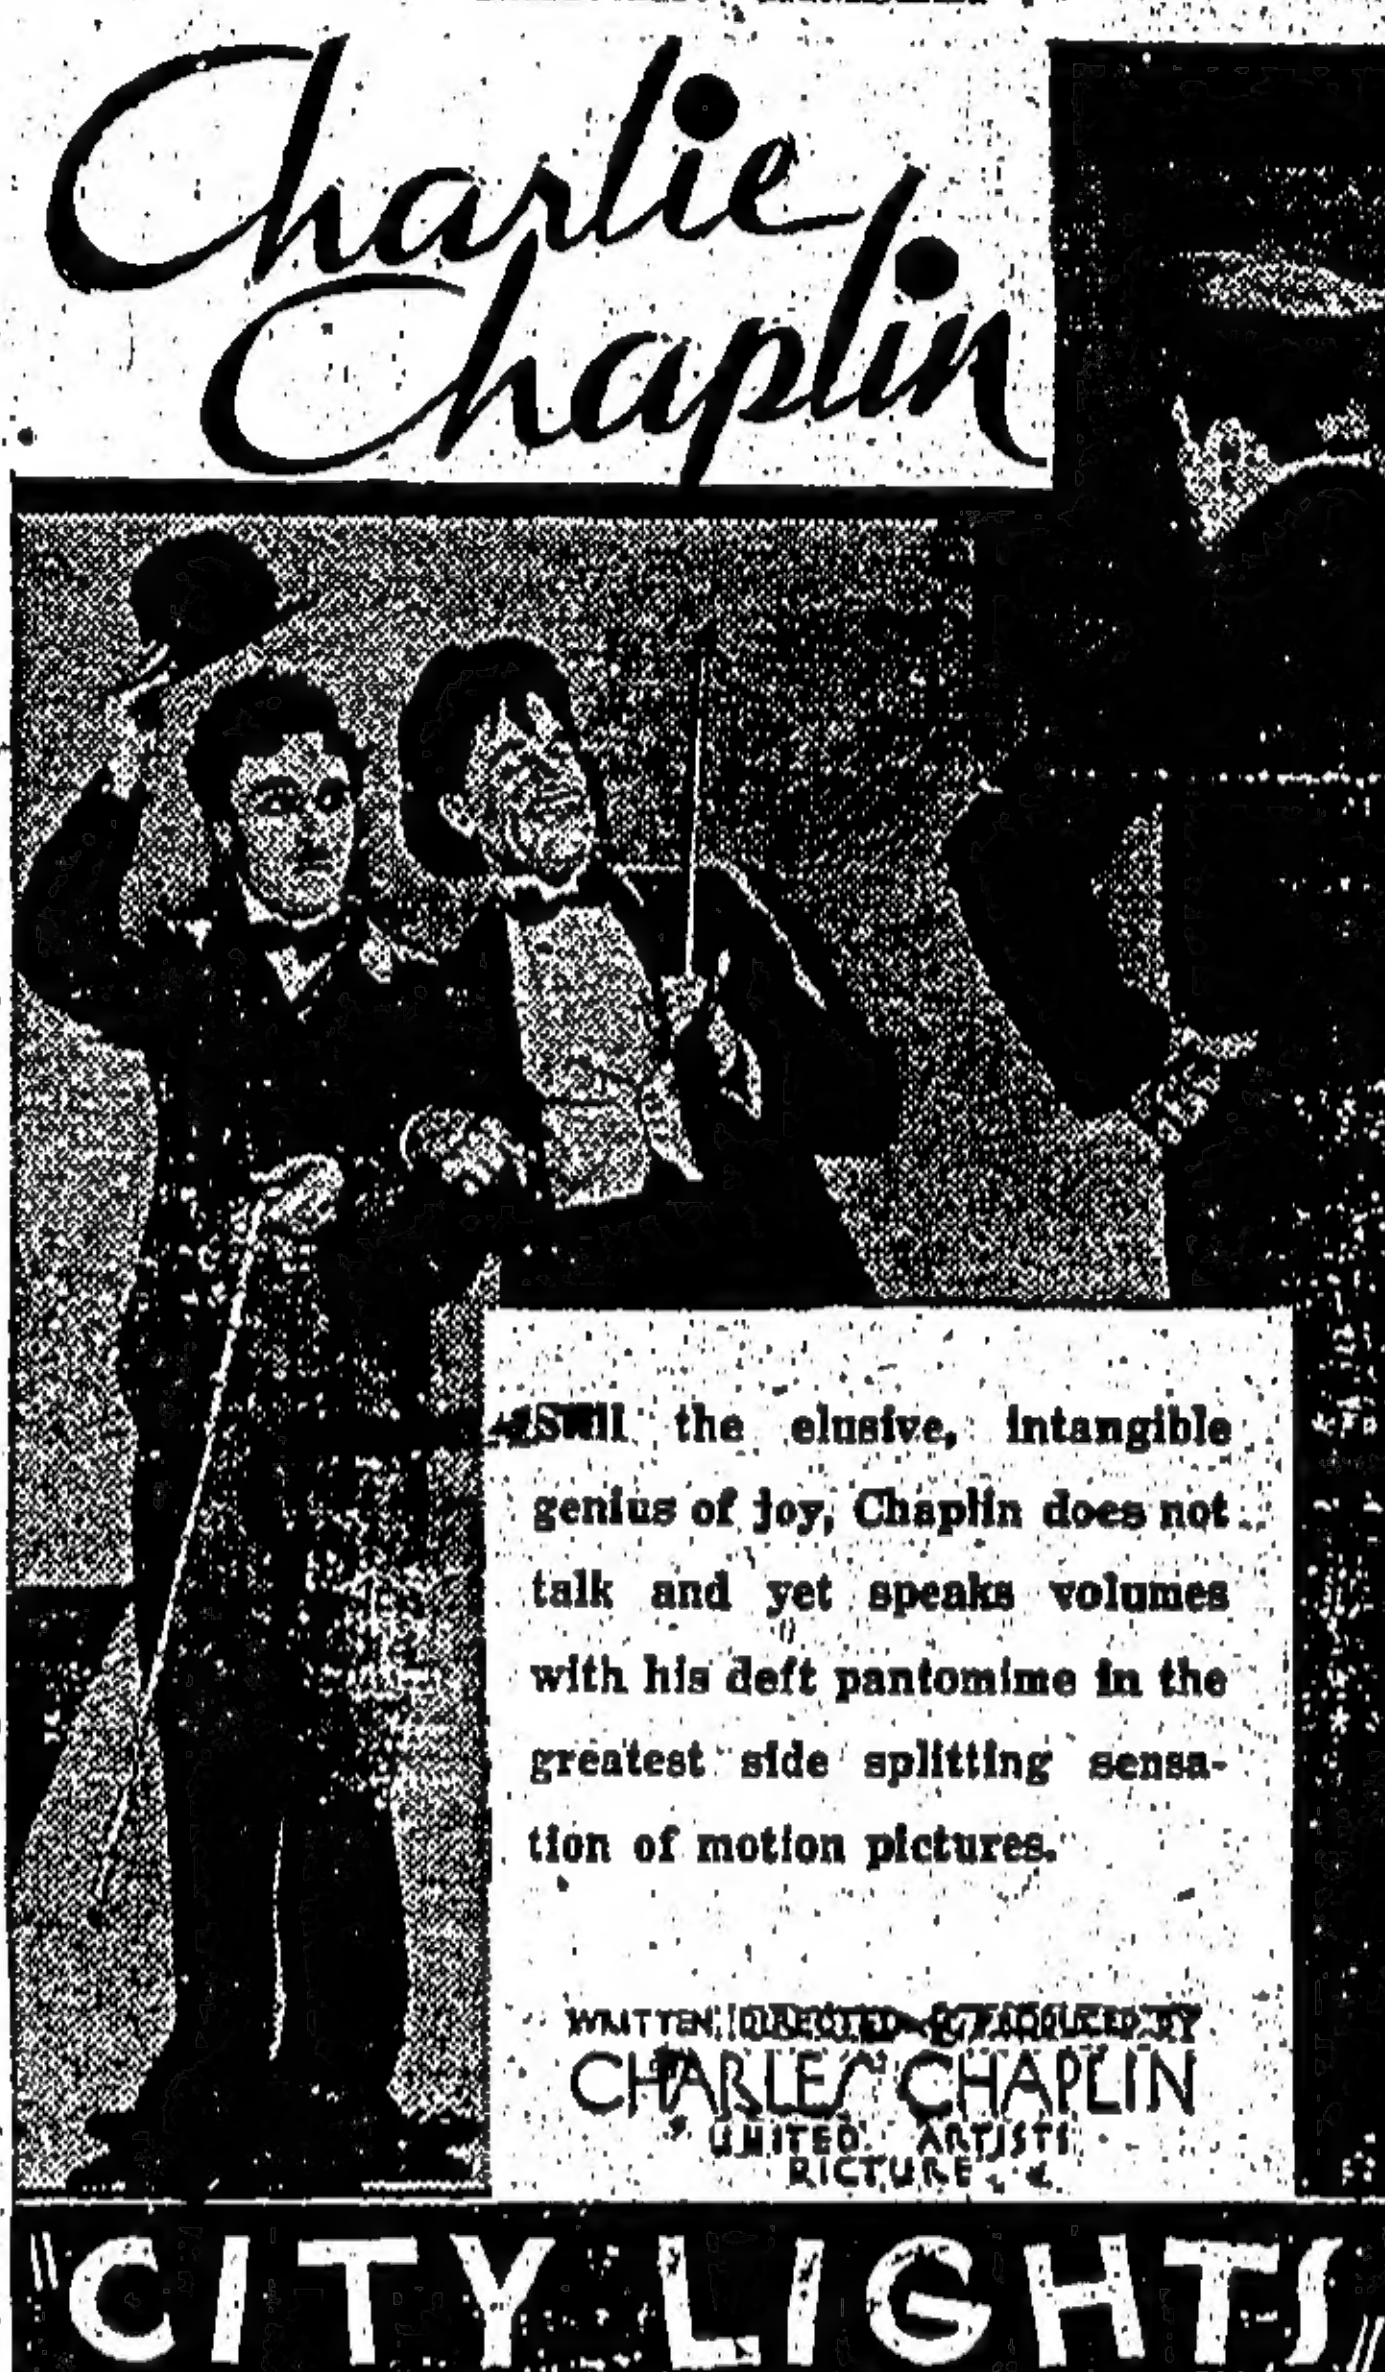

"I put it to you that from Dr. Uttley's notes this man might have died from anything, and the ligature had been applied after death," said Mr. Jenkin. The opinion in the man's stomach coupled with the shock of the blow on the head might have caused his death.

In closing, Mr. Jenkin said: "In the approaches to the case, lay and medical, there can be no question at all that death was not brought about by strangulation. It may have been, but that is not good enough."
